79. As per CPT's recommendation "The questioning of criminal suspects is a specialist task which calls for specific training if it is to be performed in a satisfactory manner. First and foremost, the precise aim of such questioning must be made crystal clear: that aim should be to obtain accurate and reliable information in order to discover the truth about matters under investigation, not to obtain a confession from someone already presumed, in the eyes of the interviewing officers, to be guilty. In addition to the provision of appropriate training, ensuring adherence of law enforcement officials to the above-mentioned aim will be greatly facilitated by the drawing up of a code of conduct for the questioning of criminal suspects."<sup>6</sup>
- , The subjects of investigation and documentation of torture and cruel treatment, including human rights and UN's Effective Investigation and Documentation of Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman, Degrading Treatment or Punishments, Istanbul Protocol, should be included in-service training curriculum of the Office staff;

81. Given that the seats in Juvenile Crimes Branch Office are hard and uncomfortable, that the number of available blankets in the detention facility is not equal to its capacity, as per CPT's recommendation "All police cells should be clean and of a reasonable size for the number of persons they are used to accommodate, and have adequate lighting (i.e. sufficient to read by, sleeping periods excluded); preferably cells should enjoy natural light.

84. Given that in the detention facility of the Anti-Terror Branch Office, the light provided from the corridors to lighten the custody cell is switched on 24 hours a day and comes directly to the seats in the cells and that there's no natural light in the cells, that there's no natural light in Juvenile Crimes Branch Office, as per CPT's recommendation "All police cells should be clean and of a reasonable size for the number of persons they are used to accommodate, and have adequate lighting (i.e. sufficient to read by, sleeping periods excluded) and ventilation conditions; preferably cells should enjoy natural light.”<sup>11</sup>,
